

Complete management

From very humble beginnings as a sole trader, Transmec Group is today present in four continents. It actively invests in providing transport, logistic and freight forwarding services in Europe, China, India, South America and the US without losing sight of the changing dynamics of the market, which are, today more than ever, global and unique. Living by this policy for over a century has positioned Transmec as a benchmark within the panorama of freight forwarding companies both nationally and internationally.

With a team of 800 employees and a fleet of 500 lorries and trailers, Transmec Group's activities are organised through several management plants, including its headquarters in Modena, in Italy. Backed by a network of 20 independent companies in Italy as well as representative offices strategically situated all over the world, Transmec is able to continuously offer an evolving range of services.

Today, Transmec handles an average of 30,000 freight movements all over the world per year by sea/air and 600,000 shipments by road in Europe, turning over a significant 274 million euros a year. Always promising on-time deliveries and taking specific care with every customer's request, Transmec Group has earned an unequalled reputation in the marketplace as one of the leading companies worldwide within the transport, shipments and logistics sector. Thanks to a recent investment in the logistics sector, the Group now has, at its disposal, 200,000 sq m of yard space, 80,000 sq m of sheltered warehouse, 30,000 pallet space and 100 loading bays in order to satisfy the market demand with dynamism and spirit of enterprise, offering customised solutions with a high technological innovation and a winning service. The evidence of Transmec Group's efficacy and high quality of its activities is further enhanced by its UNI EN ISO 9001:2000 certification.

Able to cope with anything from a small package to a dedicated charter flight, Transmec is able to meet different requests in order to offer a customised service. Transmec Group is synonymous with confidence, thanks to its large range of flexible and dynamic solutions and reliability, granted by its state-of-the-art vehicles, as well as the experience and professionalism of the team. Due to the strategic location of its branches and the organisation of night trips, the Group is able to offer a range of high added value services, such as its '24-hour overnight delivery', which grants the delivery of goods to the main European countries in 24 hours.

In order to retain its position in the marketplace, Transmec Group understands that it is not only vital to offer the widest range of services to its customers, but it is equally important to provide a centralised management solution for its fleet, which in turn minimises the overall resources and administration cost whilst maintaining an in-depth level of track and trace. For all of its consignments, Transmec Group offers a track and trace service that allows continuous monitoring of the goods during transit. To ensure the most reliable track and tracing service, the company has chosen to form a partnership with Tom Tom Work.

Equipped with a GPRS connection, the device placed on the travelling vehicle provides real-time information on the exact position of the vehicle, which can be traced at any time and from any computer with an internet connection. Apart from keeping informed of the whereabouts of their consignments, customers can also be advised of any possible delays or complications that occur during transit.

This service is not only beneficial to customers, but also enables Transmec Group to update its drivers using this real-time data. Any unexpected variation in the trip planning can be immediately forwarded to the driver, so that he/she is able to reorganise the delivery in the most efficient manner, taking into consideration time and resource. In the long-term, the benefits of this solution will affect the efficiency of the entire group, resulting in added control over the traffic, fuel cost reduction, increased efficiency, improved service for the customer, savings on insurance and maintenance costs as well as better working conditions.
